

The Anarchist Library (Mirror)
Anti-Copyright

37% illegally underpaid

Workers Solidarity Movement

1994

WAGES COUNCILS, which used to set minimum wages in badly paid industries like catering, in Northern Ireland & Britain are no more. As reported in the last edition of Workers Solidarity they were abolished by the Tories on February 7th.

Latest figures from the Low Pay Network show that, just before their abolition, over 37% of the workplaces visited by wages inspectors were illegally underpaying staff. However there were only 12 prosecutions (so much for Tory huffing and puffing about “the law must be obeyed”). In another survey one in five vacancies offered in job centres were below the minimum wages set by the wage councils

Workers Solidarity Movement
37% illegally underpaid
1994

Retrieved on 18th November 2021 from struggle.ws
Published in Workers Solidarity No. 43 – Autumn 1994.

usa.anarchistlibraries.net

